

You have earned your Social Security Benefits.

Clay Shaw is working to protect them.

“As Congress seeks solutions to guarantee the long-term health of Social Security, we must protect the benefits and security of today’s retirees and those nearing retirement. It’s your money. You worked hard for your Social Security. You have the right to keep it.”

— Congressman Clay Shaw

You have the right to a safe, secure retirement.

Generations of Americans have counted on Social Security for their retirement security. Americans depend on the benefits that were promised to us—especially those who are living on low or fixed incomes. This year, the future of Social Security will be a priority in Congress.

Congressman Clay Shaw is committed to protecting Social Security benefits for today’s retirees—and ensuring our children and grandchildren can also count on a secure retirement too.

Protect Today’s Benefits

Your Social Security benefits belong to you—you worked hard for them, you paid for them, and you deserve them. Whatever reforms to Social Security are considered, those benefits must not be touched. Congressman Clay Shaw will oppose any plan that threatens the benefits of those who worked a lifetime to earn them.

Guarantee Benefits for Tomorrow

Our children and grandchildren deserve the same retirement security that Social Security provides today. Congress is debating changes to our Social Security system to ensure the money will be there for them. Clay Shaw is working for a plan that will ensure future generations have retirement security while protecting our benefits today.

Office of Congressman Clay Shaw

Dear Friend,

Social Security is an issue that affects us all. It cannot be a partisan issue--we must all work together to ensure Social Security keeps the promises made to today's retirees, and will also be there for our children and grandchildren.

I have four children and fourteen grandchildren--soon to be fifteen. It is my job to make certain the future is secure for them.

As Congress debates potential changes to our Social Security system, I will not bend from one simple principle: Your benefits belong to you--you own them. And they must be protected.

Sincerely,

Clay Shaw

Clay Shaw
Member of Congress

P.S. Our Social Security system must keep promises made--now and in the future. Please mail in the enclosed post card and let me know your thoughts on strengthening Social Security.

It's your retirement.
You earned it.
